PHILLIPS EXETER ACADEMY

Brand Style Guidelines

Introduction

The Phillips Exeter Academy brand is a projection of the school's core values. Our name, symbols, wordmarks, colors and other visual expressions are important parts of our identity. The unique elements of our brand distinguish us from other schools and trigger recognition. When used consistently, they create a lasting impression and deeper connection with those we communicate with, including alumni, current students and their families, prospective students and their families, on-campus employees, potential employees and the public.

This guide is a statement of who we are and, in essence, an instruction manual for how our brand should be communicated. It contains required practices and addresses how consistency across all channels is vital to the integrity of our visual identity.

Exeter's core values remain constant against a backdrop of rapidly changing communications methods and tools. Our brand assets are reviewed frequently to ensure relevance for today's audiences. Consideration is given to new technologies and applications; when appropriate, adjustments or additions are made to the guide.

The Communications Office at Exeter oversees all aspects of brand identity and messaging, including official publications, the website, the primary social media accounts and media relations. If you have questions about usage, design elements or the institutional brand in general, please contact us at communications@exeter.edu.

Official Marks

The Phillips Exeter Academy marks are the most recognizable visual brand elements and must be used with the utmost consideration. Please keep the following in mind when choosing or requesting a brand mark for your project or application:

COLOR MODES

Colors appear differently when they are seen in print or on screen; therefore different color modes are used when saving out files depending on the intended application. Files for digital use RGB color mode, whereas files for print use CMYK color mode. Files for professional printing may use the Pantone Color System. Please choose the appropriate file type for your application to ensure our colors appear as they are intended.

DIGITAL USE

For digital applications like email, websites, digital PDFs, digital Word documents and social media platforms, please use the brand files ending in .png.

Digital files can only be scaled down from their original size. If they are scaled up, the quality will be compromised and they will appear pixelated.

PRINT USE

For any standard print project, please use the brand files ending in .pdf or .eps.

These files can be scaled up or down without losing quality.

SOURCE FILES

Do not use marks that are sourced from a web page, screenshot or existing document, as they often appear distorted — like a copy of a copy of a copy. It is best to use the original brand file and insert it anew into your document or design, ensuring you have the correct color mode and highest quality. Files may be downloaded via Brandfolder. See pg. 1 for details.

HORIZONTAL WORDMARK

The horizontal wordmark is preferable to other marks as it carries the full name of the Academy. It is the most formal wordmark in our brand suite and works in both digital and print applications.

COLOR

The horizontal wordmark may be displayed in Exeter Red, Saltonstall Gray, black or white. Preferred colors are red and white.

See pg. 23 for color values.

SPACING

The height of the "E" can be used to determine the minimum space that should surround the wordmark.

SIZE

The minimum width the horizontal wordmark can be printed is 1.75".

MIN SIZE 1.75"

DON'T

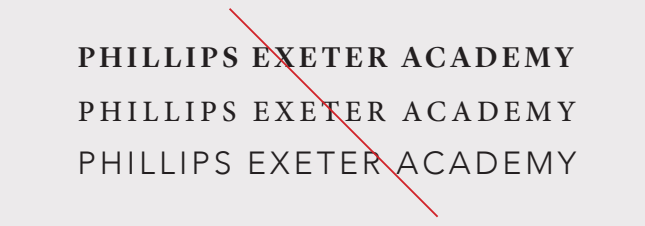

Do not rearrange or stack the words.

Do not adjust the spacing between the letters or words.

Do not use other typefaces to create a suggestion of the wordmark.

Do not use the mark in colors other than Exeter Red, Saltonstall Gray, black or white.

Do not add a dropshadow or other effect.

Do not distort by stretching or skewing.

Do not warp or arc the wordmark.

Do not create a sub-brand.

ONE-WORD MARK

The one-word Exeter mark is great for limited space or in digital applications when a bold, legible mark is needed. The one-word mark is also appropriate for more informal school communications and events.

COLOR

The one-word mark may be displayed in Exeter Red, Saltonstall Gray, black or white.
Preferred colors are red and white.
See pg. 23 for color values.

SQUAREMARK

The squaremark is less commonly used, but its shape lends itself to both print and digital applications. The squaremark is an ideal alternative to the horizontal wordmark when space is an issue, as it also displays the full name of the Academy.

COLOR

The squaremark may be displayed in Exeter Red, Saltonstall Gray, black or white.
Preferred colors are red and white.
See pg. 23 for color values.

A previous version of the squaremark included two different fonts and horizontal lines separating each word.

EXETER “E”

The Exeter “E” works well when an informal mark is appropriate. It should be used as a secondary application when “Phillips Exeter Academy” is understood or has been established. It also is appropriate for athletics purposes and apparel. The font style of the Exeter “E” is a block serif.

COLOR

The Exeter “E” may be displayed in Exeter Red, Saltonstall Gray, black or white.
Preferred colors are red and white.
See pg. 23 for color values.

Do not add additional letters.

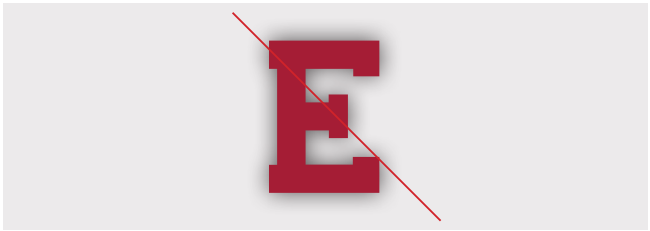

Do not use other typefaces.

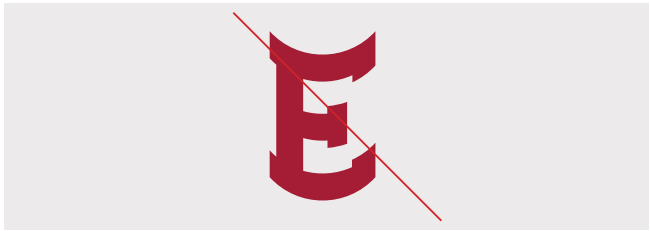

Do not incorporate the "E" into an existing graphic.

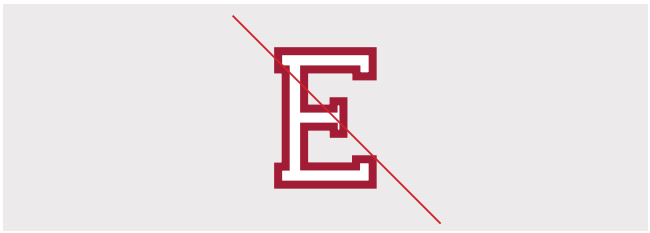

Do not add a dropshadow or other effect.

Do not stretch, skew or otherwise distort.

Do not apply outlines or create your own outlined "E" — use the official files.

Do not create a sub-brand.

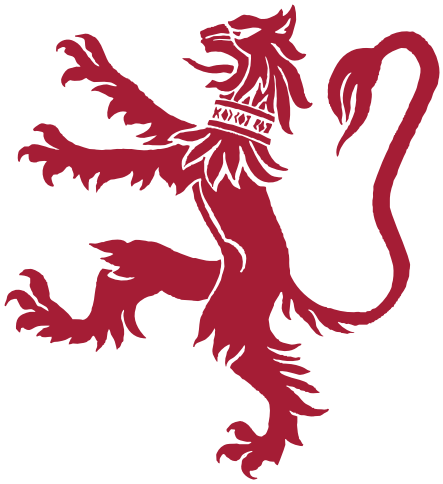

LION RAMPANT

The iconic lion rampant was derived from a bookplate cut for John Phillips in 1775 and is still an important figure in Exeter culture today. The edges of the lion are intentionally rough to evoke an old bookplate feel. To avoid loss of detail, do not use the lion in small applications.

THE OFFICIAL LION RAMPANT

The depiction of the lion rampant has evolved over the Academy's history. The current lion rampant graphic was released in the early 2000s and has noticeable differences from previous versions. For brand recognition and consistency, it is important that only this version of the lion rampant be used.

OLDER VERSIONS AND MODERN DEPICTIONS

Older iterations and modern depictions of the lion rampant should not be used. If you have a file of a lion rampant other than the current official mark, please delete it!

Do not use the lion rampant with the feathered tail.

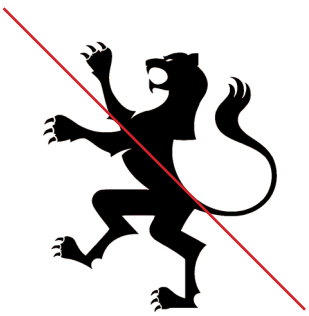

Do not use the lion rampant with the chain.

Cartoon versions of the lion rampant are not permitted.

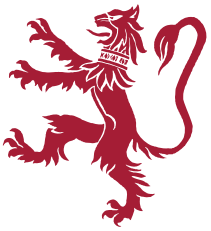

There are no modernized versions of the lion rampant permitted.

COLOR

The lion rampant may be displayed in Exeter Red, Saltonstall Gray, black or white. Preferred colors are red, gray and white.
See pg. 23 for color values.

SIZE

The minimum width the lion rampant can be printed is .5”.

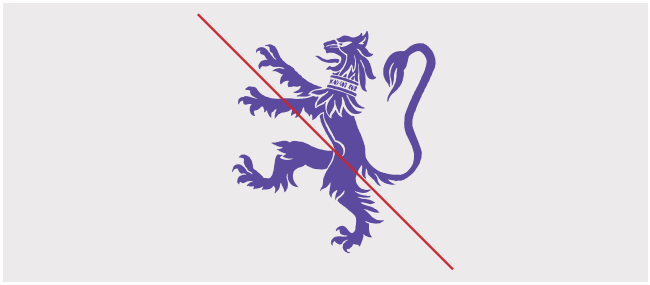

MIN SIZE .5”

EMBROIDERY

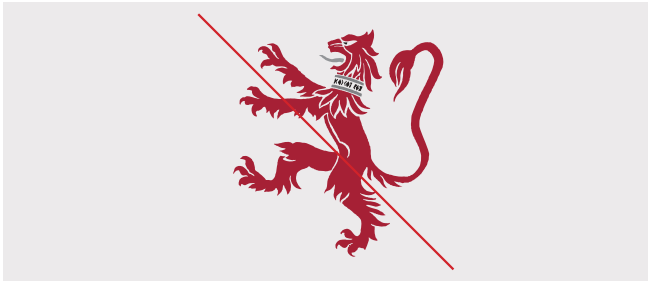

The lion rampant is an intricate graphic and therefore does not naturally lend itself to embroidery. If you are interested in using the lion rampant for a project that involves embroidery, please contact the Communications Department to discuss options.

DON'T

Do not use the lion in colors other than Exeter Red, Saltonstall Gray, black or white.

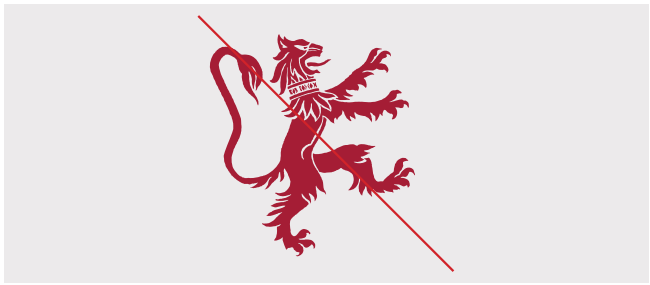

Do not use more than one color.

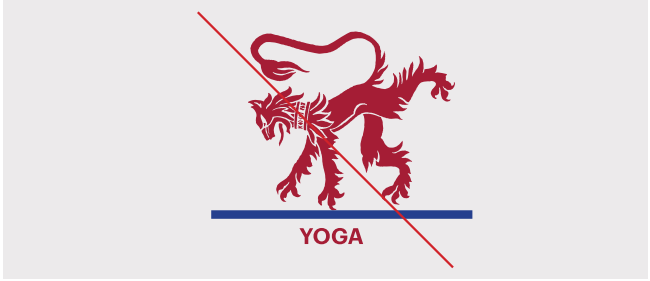

Do not add elements to the lion rampant.

Do not face the lion to the right.

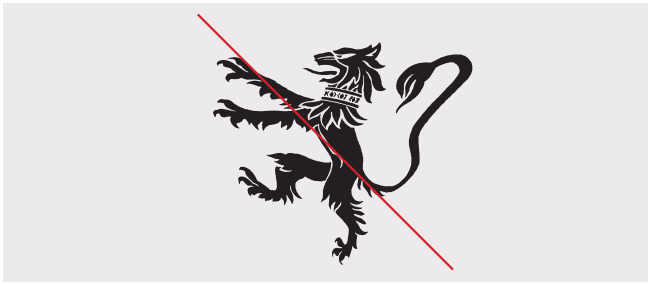

Do not use the lion rampant in a mocking or jesting way.

Cropping the lion is allowed, but deleting parts of it is not.

Do not distort the lion.

Do not try to outline the lion yourself. Ask the Communications Department for help!

THE SEAL

The official Phillips Exeter Academy seal represents the storied history of our institution. The seal mark is used sparingly, typically reserved for official communications and special occasions. Appropriate examples include letters from the principal, formal invitations and Academy diplomas. The seal does not include our full Academy name in a recognizable way, and therefore should not be used as a substitute for our wordmark.

THE OFFICIAL SEAL

In 1782, Paul Revere created a seal for Phillips Academy, Andover. In 1784, an adaption of that seal was created for Phillips Exeter Academy. In 1952, it was simplified and redesigned by Charles R. Capon — it is this seal that is currently in use today.

ELEMENTS OF THE SEAL

The seal features symbolic elements that represent values important to the founders of Phillips Exeter Academy.

"FINIS ORIGINE PENDET"

This is a quotation taken out of context from the poem "Astronomica" by Marcus Manilius. As a motto, it is freely translated as "The end depends upon the beginning."

"CHARITI THEOU"

The Greek letters at the top of the seal mean "by the grace of God." It is believed the phrase indicates the Academy's founders' desire that religion be a deep concern of the school.

"NON SIBI"

Across the sun, symbolizing the rising sun over the sea of knowledge, is "Non Sibi," or "Not for Oneself," testifying to the philosophy at Exeter that the wisdom gained here should be used for others as well as for oneself.

BEES

The beehive, with bees flying around flowering plants, symbolizes a group of industrious scholars.

TWO TREES

The pine trees symbolize New England. The oak is included as it is often called the tree of strength. It also calls to mind the adage "Great oaks from little acorns grow."

OLDER VERSIONS OF THE SEAL

Do not use older versions of the seal. If you have a file of the seal other than the current official version, please delete it!

The original seal (prior to the 1952 redesign) should not be used.

COLOR

The seal may be displayed in Exeter Red, Saltonstall Gray, black or white. Preferred colors are red, gray and white. See pg. 23 for color values.

COLORIZED VERSIONS OF THE SEAL

There are no official colorized versions of our seal. If you have one, please delete it!

Do not use colored versions of the seal or attempt to colorize the seal.

DESIGN USAGE

The seal may be used as a watermark, either in its entirety or cropped. If cropping the seal, ensure enough of it is visible to be identifiable as our mark.

SPACING

Given the complexity of the seal, it is important not to crowd it. The distance from the outer border to the dotted interior border can be used to determine the minimum amount of empty space that should surround the seal.

SIZE

The minimum width the Academy seal should be printed is 1”.

MIN SIZE 1”

EMBROIDERY AND SILKSCREENING

The Academy seal is an intricate graphic and therefore does not naturally lend itself to embroidery or crisp silkscreening, particularly at smaller sizes. If you are interested in using the seal for a project that requires either of these methods, please contact the Communications Department to discuss options.

DON'T

Do not use the mark in colors other than Exeter Red, Saltonstall Gray, black or white.

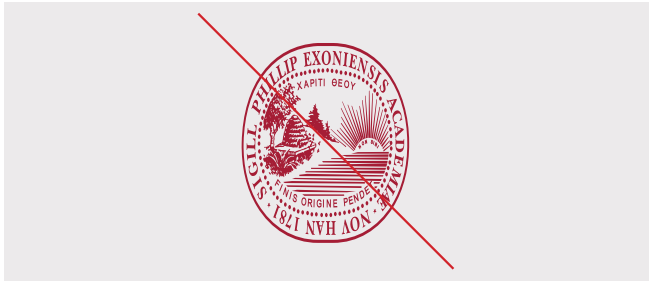

Do not "colorize" the seal.

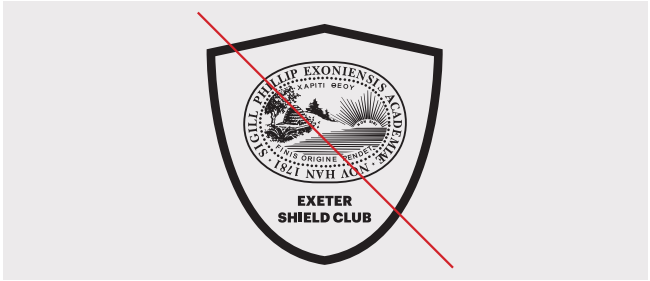

Do not use more than one color.

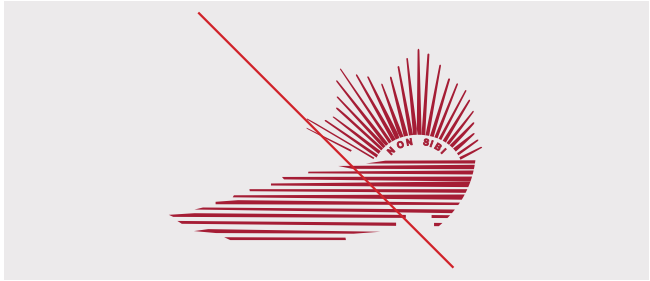

Do not distort the seal.

Do not create a sub-brand.

Cropping the seal is allowed, but deleting parts of it is not.

Do not add dropshadows or other effects.

Do not change the thickness of the outline.

DUAL BRANDING

Phillips Exeter Academy is its own brand. Although we allow our name, wordmark and other brand elements to be printed on established apparel brands and used in partnership applications, our name and marks should never be confused with or misappropriated by these companies.

Our brand should not be integrated into designs created by another brand, positioned in a way that mocks or changes the tone, or used in a way that suggests Exeter is an affiliate or sub-brand of a company. Exeter's brand elements should never be used in a color scheme other than the approved palette specified within this document.

DESIGN TIPS: CHOOSING A MARK

Choose a mark that best suits the tone of the project. Is it formal or informal?

Choose a mark that best suits the available space.

Consider legibility: Choose a light-colored mark to sit on dark backgrounds and vis versa.

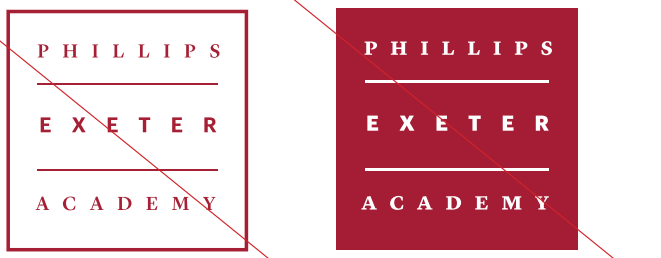

Keep in mind the viewer: Use the Academy's full name for external audiences whenever possible.

RETIRED MARKS

The following marks are no longer used on new projects at the Academy. In an effort to reduce waste, existing products that feature these marks and cannot be changed (print, apparel, signage) do not have to be thrown away until necessary. Digital applications that feature these marks should be updated to use our current official brand marks.

CHAINED LION RAMPANT

Name and Phrases

USAGE AND VARIATIONS

Whenever possible, the Phillips Exeter Academy name should be used in its entirety. However, when space is limited or if the alternative is better suited to an item, you may also use the approved shortened name "Exeter."

GO BIG RED

The term "Big Red" is one that you commonly hear at Phillips Exeter Academy sporting events. It is an expression of school pride and promotes camaraderie — a value that is essential to our community. The phrases "Go Big Red" and "Big Red" are not our school's taglines and should not be positioned in a way that suggests otherwise.

THE LION RAMPANT IN ATHLETICS

While the lion rampant has been an iconic symbol for Exeter throughout the Academy's history, athletic teams are not "the lion rampants" or "the lions." Phrases such as "Go lions!" "Go lion rampants!" or "Go rampants!" are not used.

NON SIBI

Non sibi or not for oneself, inscribed on Exeter's seal, attests to the philosophy and core value that wisdom gained here should be used for others as well as for oneself. However, non sibi* is not our school's tagline and should not be positioned in a way that suggests otherwise.

Color

The Phillips Exeter Academy color palette is another key component of our school's brand. From the athletics uniforms to the flag on our belltower, our colors are applied to all facets of the school's visual identity, communicating who we are even without accompanying text or marks. Using Exeter colors appropriately and consistently is an easy way to ensure we present a cohesive brand.

COLOR ACROSS MEDIUMS

A variety of factors affect how colors appear in print, on screen, in products or fabric. In print applications, colors may appear differently depending on the base color of the paper and any coating applied to the piece. Print processes — offset printing vs. digital — will also produce slight variations in color. Digital displays of color appear differently than printed inks.

This document details the values for various processes and applications in an effort to present our colors as consistently as possible across mediums.

EXETER RED

Exeter's first athletic team (baseball) took the field in red in 1878, and it has been our school's main color ever since. Beyond our mark, our color red is the most recognizable aspect of our brand identity. Our color evokes school pride and nostalgia and acts as a promise to our audiences — although we are always evolving, we are always Exeter.

For all these reasons, we ask that the community use the color formulas detailed in this document and choose products as close to our Exeter Red as possible.

SECONDARY COLOR PALETTE

Although our primary colors, red and gray, have been constant since their adoption in 1878, our secondary color palette has and will continue to evolve. The secondary colors are accents chosen to complement our primary colors and allow our marketing and outreach pieces to stay fresh and relevant.

PRIMARY COLORS

Our school's primary color, Exeter Red, has been described through history as crimson, cardinal and lively maroon. It is not dark maroon or burgundy, or brighter cherry or pink-red.

EXETER RED

The main color for the Academy, Exeter Red is fundamental to our school's visual identity.

In digital applications, large areas of red can be overwhelming to viewers. Because of this, we recommend it be used strategically and sparingly. Links, buttons, and pull quotes or block quotes are appropriate uses.

METALLICS

Silver, dark gray and gold metallic inks or foils may be used for special or formal print projects. Examples include The Founders' Day Award and the opening gala for The Goel Center for Theater and Dance. Please contact the Communications Department if you are interested in incorporating metallics into your print project.

APPAREL AND PRODUCT COLORS

While we strive to source products and apparel that closely match our official brand colors, the diverse range of materials, fabrics and dyeing techniques can make it challenging to find exact color matches for every item. In such cases, use your best judgment or contact the Communications Department for guidance.

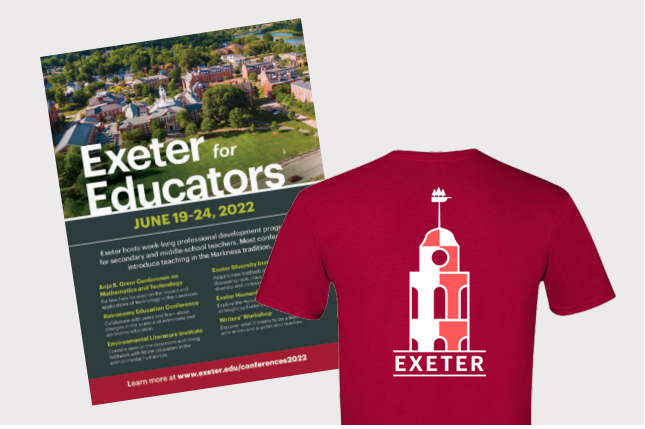

Apparel and other promotional products should feature our primary colors, not colors from the secondary color palette.

DESIGN TIPS: COLOR BALANCE

Use Exeter Red and Saltonstall Gray as the main colors in your project whenever possible.

Use secondary colors as accents in your project.

Choose accent colors to best suit your audience. Rampant Red, Summer Orange and Academy Lawn are more youthful and energetic.

Choose accent colors to best suit your audience. Harkness Red, Assembly Stage and Belltower Green work well for projects with a sophisticated tone.

Choose colors for text with legibility in mind. Belltower Green and Assembly Stage are too light for small text on light backgrounds.

Choose colors to complement your photography, not compete against it.

Imagery

Imagery, most often photography, is an important way we tell the story of Phillips Exeter Academy effectively and authentically. Thoughtfully selected images will evoke emotional responses — nostalgia for alumni and curiosity for prospective students and their families. Photographs can engage and maintain powerful connections with audiences familiar with Exeter. For those seeking to join our community, photographs are a promise of what they will see and feel when they arrive.

PHOTOGRAPHY STYLE

Exeter's preferred photography style embraces a photojournalistic approach, capturing authentic moments that reflect the genuine essence of the Academy community. We strive to use photography that evokes the feeling of a moment.

Avoid staged photos and stock photography unless absolutely necessary.

COLOR AND RETOUCHING

In keeping with our authentic photography style, we strive to use natural color tones so images feel as real as the life they depict. While basic color correcting is expected, do not use stylized photo filters or over saturate colors. Similarly, do not dramatically sharpen or use very high-contrast effects.

Do not alter the subjects or contents of photos using Photoshop or other creative programs beyond basic re-touching or color correcting.

ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE (AI)

Authenticity is a differentiator for Exeter. Therefore, any creative output representing Exeter should reflect the unique aesthetic of the Academy. The use of AI to edit or alter existing imagery in any way or to create an alternate reality is not permitted..

ILLUSTRATION

In instances where photography may not be suitable to convey a message, illustration may be used. To maintain a visually appealing, relevant and sophisticated aesthetic, it is preferable that illustrations be original artwork created by the Communications Department or an external vendor. Do not use cartoon-style clip art.

DESIGN TIPS: PHOTOGRAPHY

Choose candid photos over staged photography.

Choose photos that capture a moment and evoke feeling.

Use a natural color palette.

Choose photos that help tell Exeter's unique story.

Consider your photo composition. Is it visually engaging? Does it spark interest?

Consider the content and setting. Does your photo tell a story and show the Academy environment?

Typography

A consistent use of fonts aids in brand recognition and assists in communicating our school's voice. When used strategically, typography is a powerful way to set the tone of a piece and enhance our storytelling.

OFFICIAL FONTS

The Phillips Exeter Academy brand includes two official font families — Lyon and Graphik — a serif and sans serif font respectively. This combination of typographic styles allows us to present our messaging in a way that balances our school's spectrum of values — traditional and modern, sophisticated and youthful, academically rigorous and fun. Do not use fonts outside the official brand fonts for public-facing marketing or communication pieces representing the Academy.

LICENSING

Our font licensing agreement allows Graphik and Lyon typefaces to be used for marketing purposes by select Exeter personnel and external vendors creating products for the Academy. For internal communications, system font alternatives are acceptable. Please see the following pages for serif and sans serif alternate font options.

TONE

When choosing fonts for your piece, consider your audience and the tone you are striving for. If your piece is formal or serious, Lyon is a good choice for body copy and/or headers. If you are speaking to a younger audience or striving for an energetic tone, Graphik is ideal.

LEGIBILITY AND READABILITY

Exeter strives to create marketing and communication pieces that are mindful of all readers and users. For longer paragraphs of text, particularly for print applications, Lyon is ideal. Graphik works well for headers and short blocks of text but is also suitable for longer text, particular in digital applications.

Increase legibility by choosing text colors that contrast sufficiently with their background. Do not use very heavy font weights, all capital letters or italics for large blocks of text. Be mindful of line length; it is hard to read very wide text blocks when you have a large amount of text.

SANS SERIF

Graphik is a modern sans serif typeface inspired by Swiss Modern posters and designed by Christian Schwartz. Graphik is our most frequently utilized font, featured on almost every marketing initiative for the Academy both for headlines and body copy.

SERIF

Lyon is a traditional style typeface with a contemporary feel. The Academy utilizes Lyon most often for body copy and print materials, but it can also be used for headlines and pullquotes when a more formal tone is desired.

LYON

The Academy uses both Lyon Text and Lyon Display font families.

Very similar to Lyon Text, Lyon Display has slightly sharper serifs and higher contrast in its letterforms.

Best Practices

SUSTAINABILITY

Sustainability is important to Exeter, from the way we power and heat our buildings to the way we create marketing pieces. For print projects, we encourage and prioritize the use of recycled and/or responsibly sourced paper products whenever feasible.

When ordering promotional items, please consider their recyclability or their cradle-to-grave lifecycle to minimize environmental impact. When ordering any items, consider the quantity needed and avoid overordering whenever possible, especially for event-specific or single use items.

We encourage the use of local print companies to reduce the carbon emissions involved with shipping. For recommendations, please contact the Communications Department.

Institutional Advancement

The Phillips Exeter Academy Office of Institutional Advancement (IA) comprises departments dedicated to maintaining relationships with alumni and families and ensuring the financial security of the Academy through fundraising and donations.

Specific, ongoing intiatives for some IA departments have their own marks that have been crafted to complement and accompany the Academy's core brand. People who are engaging with these marks are most often familiar with the Academy core brand and are viewing them within the context of the school, i.e., the website, a printed mailer or an email.

Institutional Advancement marks are specifically for use by IA, Communications or vendors creating IA projects.

THE EXETER FUND

The Exeter Fund is an essential support system of the Academy, helping to sustain the hallmarks of an Exeter education for more than a century. An official visual brand was created for The Exeter Fund in 2023.

The Exeter Fund primary logo

The Exeter Fund alternate logo

COMPONENTS OF THE EXETER FUND LOGO

The Exeter Fund logo is distinctive yet harmonious with the Academy's core identity, complementing existing marks and tapping into our target audiences' historic relationship with the Academy.

EXETER

TYPOGRAPHY

The Exeter Fund logo uses Graphik, our core brand's sans-serif font family, in all capital letters just like our other official wordmarks. This intentionally emphasizes the core brand and sub-brand connection.

THE STAIRS

The stairs graphic depicts a specific, well-known corridor on campus. This nostalgic mark is bold and simple, while also using uneven, worn lines on the stair treads. This accurately represents the real, worn stairs while allowing the mark to be in visual harmony with our other brand elements — some modern, some older in appearance.

The stairs also symbolize the journey toward excellence of every Exeter student — a path that would not be possible without the ongoing support of The Exeter Fund.

STAIRS USAGE

The stairs may not be used as a standalone icon in lieu of The Exeter Fund logo and core Academy brand marks. It may be used on its own as a supplemental graphic element (e.g., a watermark, a seal on an envelope) as long as the integrity of the mark is not compromised.

COLOR PALETTE

The Exeter Fund visual brand includes a color palette different from the core brand. The emphasis of Harkness Red, a secondary color in our core brand, and Heritage Gold creates a traditional feel and sets The Exeter Fund apart while maintaining a visual connection.

CO-BRANDING

The Exeter Fund logo will be recognizable to the intended, targeted audiences while maintaining a relationship with the core Academy brand. In instances when the audience understands the fund's role within Phillips Exeter Academy, the logo may be used in lieu of a traditional Academy mark.

It is required, however, that the full name of the Academy and/or a core brand mark accompany the fund mark, although the two graphic elements are not required to be used in the same field of view. (Example: a fundraising pamphlet using The Exeter Fund logo on the cover may include the horizontal wordmark on the back cover.) Exceptions to this will be made for publications that are otherwise Academy branded (e.g. The Exeter Bulletin).

If you have questions about how to appropriately use The Exeter Fund brand and the Academy core brand together, please contact the Communications Department.

THE EXETER FUND IN WRITING

As required by the Academy's Editorial Style Guide, when referencing The Exeter Fund all three words: The, Exeter and Fund must be capitalized in all cases.

The Exeter Fund has an established tone and voice for use in written communications, as well as specific messaging to include in marketing materials. Consistent use of these brand elements, including the visual mark, will reinforce The Exeter Fund's identity with target audiences. If you are creating written communications for The Exeter Fund, please reach out to Lynn Taylor, director of The Exeter Fund, for information.

RETIRED MARKS

In 2021, a wordmark was created to celebrate the 100th anniversary of The Exeter Fund. The variations of this mark only bold the word "Exeter." Please do not use these retired wordmarks. If you have files of these marks, please delete them.

DON'T

Do not adjust the spacing between the letters.

Do not change the weight/boldness of the text.

Do not create new variations of the logo, or otherwise "unlock" the primary or alternate logos.

Do not change the font of the text in the logo.

Do not change the case of the text in the logo.

Do not change the logo to be more than one color, or use colors other than the approved values.

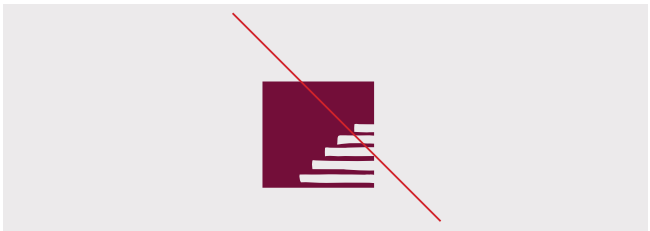

Do not display the text of the logo without the stairs.

Do not combine the logo with other marks.

Do not change the shape of the stairs.

Do not distort the logo in any way.

FOREVER R.E.D. WORDMARK

The Exeter Fund's recurring donation program, Forever R.E.D., is a priority giving strategy created by Institutional Advancement in 2022. The wordmark for this program was designed specifically to work with the The Exeter Fund logo and the rest of the Academy's suite of marks.

COLOR

The Forever R.E.D. may be displayed in Exeter Red, black or white. Preferred colors are red and white. See pg. 23 for color values.

CO-BRANDING

Depending on the context of a piece, it is required that the full name and/or logo of either Phillips Exeter Academy or The Exeter Fund accompany the Forever R.E.D. wordmark. However, when two logos are used, they are not required to be in the same field of view. For example, a postcard using the Forever R.E.D. logo on one side may include the horizontal wordmark or The Exeter Fund logo on the back side. Exceptions to this will be made for publications or platforms that are otherwise Academy branded (e.g. The Exeter Bulletin, exeter.edu) or for select products, like stickers, where space is limited.

EXETER RECOGNITION SOCIETIES

For years, Exeter has show appreciation for generous and loyal alumni, families and friends through donor recognition societies. Redesigned in 2024, the societies are grouped into four categories: Leadership Societies, Distinctions, Giving Circles and Reunion Giving Societies.

LEADERSHIP SOCIETIES

These societies honor donors who step forward as philanthropic leaders for Exeter through their annual fund contributions. Current marks include 9 individual seal and 1 general seal to represent all levels.

OTHER GIVING SOCIETIES

Current graphics include 2 individual seals and 1 general seal to represent all giving societies.

GIVING CIRCLES

Current graphics include 2 individual seals and 1 general seal to represent all giving circles.

REUNION GIVING SOCIETIES

Alumni celebrating a reunion who donate an amount equal to or greater than their reunion year are recognized with membership in a reunion giving society. There are 14 seals starting with the 5th reunion. The 25th reunion is acknowledged as special through a silver color, and the 50th with gold.

COLOR

With the exception of the The Big Red Club, the donor recognition society marks should be displayed in Heritage Gold (or metallic gold when appropriate). See pg. 36 for color values.

All donor recognition society marks can be shown in white on backgrounds or used as watermarks in lighter tones of Heritage gold.

Depending on the context of a piece, it is required that the full name and/or logo of either Phillips Exeter Academy or The Exeter Fund accompany a giving societies mark. However, when two marks are used, they are not required to be in the same field of view. For example, a card featuring a giving society mark may include the Phillips Exeter Academy wordmark on the envelope it was sent it. Exceptions to this will be made for publications or platforms that are otherwise Academy branded (e.g. The Exeter Bulletin, exeter.edu).

EXETER BELONGING

A joint initiative between Alumni Relations and the Office of Diversity, Equity and Inclusion, Exeter Belonging is a series of celebrations that highlight individual cultural/affinity groups and the impact they have on the greater Exeter community. The Exeter Belonging mark was developed collaboratively with community members and alumni in 2026.

COMPONENTS OF THE EXETER BELONGING MARK

TYPOGRAPHY

The Exeter Belonging mark uses Graphik, our core brand's sans-serif font family, in all capital letters just like our other official wordmarks. This emphasizes the core brand and sub-brand connection.

THE SHAPES

The shapes in the mark are inspired by the quad pathways on campus. The pathways symbolize connection, intersection, and journeys, and are a reference that will be understood by alumni familiar with campus.

The mark also resembles puzzle pieces, a reference to the core idea that although pieces are unique, they belong together.

SPACING

The height of the "E" can be used to determine the minimum space that should surround the mark.

SIZE

The minimum width the Exeter Belonging mark can be printed is 1.75". For digital use, the minimum width 72 dpi resolution is 250 pixels.

MIN SIZE 1.25"

COLOR PALETTE

The Exeter Belonging mark was designed to have a flexible color palette. When used to promote the event series as a whole, the mark uses primary Exeter colors. When the mark is used for a specific affinity group celebration, it can adapt a different color palette or aesthetic to meet the needs of the event.

COLOR

The Exeter Belonging primary mark is comprised of Exeter Red and a dark shade of gray (C:0, M:0, Y:0, K:90).
See pg. 21 for color values.

If necessary to ensure legibility, white may be used instead of red for the shapes. Depending on the background, a subtle drop shadow or outer glow may be applied.

The Exeter Belonging mark may be displayed in white on dark colored backgrounds. To create depth and emphasize the pathways, the white shapes may be set at reduced opacity.

USING THE MARK ON IMAGERY

The success of the Exeter Belonging mark and the supporting pathways reference hinges on the ability to see the defined spaces between the shapes. If using the mark on an image, choose uncluttered images that provide strong contrast so the edges and negative spaces remain clear and easy to read.

Pathways and typography clear in mark.

Pathways and typography not clear.

Pay attention to contrast and color when choosing what backgrounds to use behind the mark. Whenever possible, use the mark directly on a photo instead of putting a white field behind it.

Mark against background creates sufficient contrast.

Avoid putting a white rectangle behind the mark.

CO-BRANDING

Depending on the context of a piece, it is required that the full name and/or logo of the Academy or accompany the Exeter Belonging mark. However, when two marks are used, they are not required to be in the same field of view. For example, a postcard promoting an event may use the Exeter Belonging mark on one side and an Academy mark on the opposite side . Exceptions to this will be made for publications or platforms that are otherwise Academy branded (e.g. The Exeter Bulletin, exeter.edu) or for select products, like stickers, where space is limited.

EVOLUTION OF THE EXETER BELONGING AESTHETIC

The Exeter Belonging event series will highlight cultural and affinity groups for years to come. As the focus of these celebrations are determined, the Exeter Belonging mark and supporting visual elements will also evolve to reflect the appropriate colors, patterns, style, or tone of a particular group.

LGBTQIA+ VARIATION

When an Exeter Belonging event is specifically for LGBTQIA+ Exonians, colors of the progressive pride flag may be applied to or used with the mark.

When the Exeter Belonging mark uses the progressive pride rainbow gradient on a light colored background, the typography should be Exeter Red. See pg. 23 for color values.

Exeter Belonging LGBTQIA+ primary mark

Typography not Exeter Red

The Exeter Belonging mark was designed to be used on a variety of backgrounds and imagery appropriate to a celebration (as determined by Institutional Advancement and the Office of Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion) as long as the integrity of the mark is not compromised.

The Exeter Belonging mark may not be used on top of an existing progressive pride flag due to issues with legibility.

PRINTING THE GRADIENT

The LGBTQIA+ mark utilizes many color values in the gradient that should be presented as bright and saturated as possible. Please consider the material the gradient will be applied and the printing method to ensure the colors are printed vibrantly.

DON'T

Do not change the font of the text.

Do not change the weight/boldness of the text.

Do not create new variations of the mark, or otherwise deconstruct the mark.

SPECIAL USE MARKS

The Academy has official marks that are used for special events and awards.

FOUNDERS' DAY AWARD

The Founders' Day Award is given annually to an alumnus, alumna, faculty emeritus or emerita, retired staff member, parent or friend who has demonstrated exceptional service to the Academy.

The official mark that appears on this prestigious award includes imagery from the original Phillips Family Crest. It is printed with specialty inks and foil inlay.

PHILLIPS EXETER ACADEMY
FOUNDERS' DAY
AWARD

JOHN AND ELIZABETH PHILLIPS AWARD

The John and Elizabeth Phillips Award is given to an alumnus or alumna of the Academy whose life demonstrates co-founders John and Elizabeth Phillips' ideal of goodness and knowledge united in noble character and usefulness to mankind.

Though the Phillips Award graphic uses components from the Academy's official seal, it should not be used for anything other than the annual award. This official mark is printed in special gold ink or foil inlay.

Athletics

Athletics at Exeter is essential to the Academy's culture and identity. Presenting the Academy brand consistently and cohesively in athletics is an important way to trigger recognition and differentiate ourselves from peer schools.

APPAREL, EQUIPMENT AND MERCHANDISE COLORS

Beyond our brand marks, Exeter Red is the most recognizable aspect of our brand identity and an important element in athletic competitions. Our color evokes school pride and inspires camaraderie. Consistent use of color creates a stronger Exeter brand.

While official uniforms are ordered through the Athletics Department, we know there are many ways other apparel can be purchased directly by the consumer. Although the diverse range of fabrics and dyeing techniques makes it challenging to find exact color matches for every item, we ask that you try to choose apparel that most closely matches our official brand colors. Exeter Red is referred to as "cardinal" or "crimson."

Do not choose dark purples/burgundy or bright red for apparel or merchandise. Black is not an official color in our palette; it should not be the main color of a product that features the Academy marks or name.

Please see pg. 23 for information on color.

ATHLETICS WORDMARK

In order to unify the numerous Exeter athletic teams through cohesive uniform branding, an official athletics wordmark was adopted in 2021. This is the only wordmark that should appear on uniforms or equipment. The athletics wordmark may also be used on apparel or any marketing, signage, or interior design pieces for the Athletics Department.

COLOR

The Exeter athletics wordmark may be displayed in Exeter Red, Saltonstall Gray, black or white. Preferred colors are red and white.
See pg. 23 for color values.

CO-BRANDING

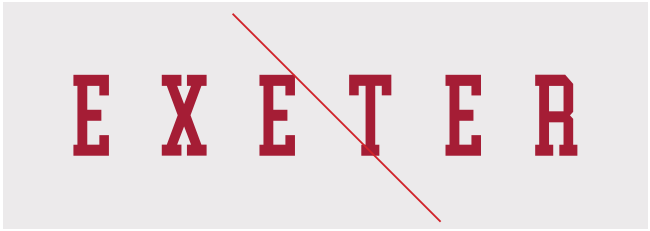

The Exeter athletics wordmark does not require additional Academy brand marks to be paired with it. It may be used along with the lion rampant or the official E, as long as the marks are allowed their own space and the integrity of either is not compromised by combining into one mark.

DUEL BRANDING

The Exeter athletics wordmark may be printed on established apparel brands and used in partnership applications. However, this wordmark should never be combined with or integrated into designs created by another brand or used in a way that suggests Exeter is an affiliate or sub-brand of a company.

DON'T

Do not adjust the spacing between the letters.

Do not use other typefaces to create a suggestion of the wordmark.

Do not distort the mark by stretching or skewing.

Do not warp the mark.

Do not use the mark in colors other than Exeter Red, Saltonstall Gray, black or white.

Do not use more than one color, even from our approved color palette.

Do not add a dropshadow or other effect.

Do not create a sub-brand.

Exeter Summer

For more than 100 years the Academy's summer session has provided academic enrichment to middle and high school students and, in recent years, has served as a kind of incubator for courses and initiatives for the regular session.

As a Phillips Exeter Academy program, Exeter Summer uses and adheres to the school's brand standards. Style adjustments are applied for publications and products, however, to convey that the program has a distinct identity and audience.

COLOR PALETTE

Exeter Summer's association with the warmest, brightest season in New England, allows it more flexibility in utilizing our color palette. Our secondary color Summer Orange is typically used as the primary color for Exeter Summer marketing pieces. Rampant Red, Assembly Stage, Academy Lawn and other secondary colors may be used more prominently than we would permit for regular-session Academy marketing pieces.

EXETER SUMMER WORDMARK

The Exeter Summer wordmark is an official mark used on the program's various marketing pieces. It was designed using varying weights from our sans serif font, Graphik, to intentionally conform with the rest of our core brand marks.

COLOR

The Exeter Summer wordmark may be displayed in Summer Orange, Exeter Red, Saltonstall Gray, black or white. Summer Orange, Exeter Red and white are the preferred colors. See pg. 23 for color values.

SPACING

DUAL BRANDING

The Exeter Summer wordmark should be used when it is clear that it is a program of Phillips Exeter Academy. This can be achieved through text or with the inclusion of another Academy mark.

DON'T

Do not adjust the spacing between the letters or words.

Do not use the mark in colors other than Summer Orange, Exeter Red, Saltonstall Gray, black or white.

Do not add a dropshadow or other effect.

Do not stretch, skew or otherwise distort.

Do not outline the wordmark.

Do not create a sub-brand.
